GEG. D. P. ENTEUR, REMAIN O' IVER LUCAS. Level Editor and Reporter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22 1861. We hegin this moraing the publication of the paper of Dr. Breekinridge's which we promised a few days ago. It is in all respects a magnificent production. The whole nation will rest it with the leftiest admiration.

We republish the following passage from the Washington despatches in the Journal of Secretary Smith protested that the Administraceived sa they had been bitherto, within the lines of the army, but it was not intended to arm them. If tweater millions of freemen could not single-handed suidus this rebelliou, it would is a discrete to them, and they ought to give up the Robert J. Walker and Senator McDougal fol

It will be observed here that Secretary Smith protests that the Administration contemplates no such policy as Secretary Cameron recommends, and that Secretary Cameron does not pretend to question the truth of Sec retary Smith's protesta ion. Secretary Smith, therefore, stands in this conversation as the representative of the Administration, while Secretary Cameron stands as merely his own representative. Hence, the Administration is not responsible for the opinion expressed by Secretary Camerou. The opinion le one which he holds and expresses on his separate and individual responsibility, in opposition to the Administration of which he is a member. It is his personal opinion not his official one,-the opinion he flourishes as n man not the opinion which guides and gorerns him as an other. With this considordinary consequeuce, we might very properly be content to dismiss the subject, for Secretary Camerou as a man cannot impart particular consequence to anything. The opinion, however, is not of ordinary consequence intrinsieally. It is of extraordinary consequence For this reason Mr. Cameron's manifest slc-public constrains na to notice It further.

We need not say, that, in this difference bewe agree heartily with the Administration The netual policy of the Administration, as set t'auteron is both wrong and mexpedient. It public affairs now existing. s wrong and inexpedient in a measure utterly enstitution. It proposes to aunihilate one of proposes to preserve the whole by destroying a part. The policy is thus illegitimate and ab rel If our antagonist were a foreign enemy the case might be dufferent, for in that even the end of the confict would be simply to the end is not only to master the enemy but to so master blin as to preserve the country in its real end of the war is the preservation of a meaua to this end. What in a forcign con flict would be the end is in the present conflict but a mode of sceuring the end. This is a listinction which from the nature of things must characterize civil war to all fren govern ments. It is a vital distinction. I', however 13 a distinction of which Mr. Cameron ap-It would not alone pluck the fruit of the tree, above, destroy a constituent part of the country for whose prescriation entire the war is being illegitimate and abourd.

But it is also inexpedient. If it were in itsoif justifiable it should not be adopted, because it is calculated not to promote but to relard even the secondary end of mastering tho eremy. The adoption of such a policy by the Administration would virtually proclaim that the conflict was no longer waged for the purpose of re-establishing the Union but for the si gla purpose of subduing the enemy at whatever cost to the institutions of the country; that at first to preserve the country but to do the onemy all the injury in our power; that, In fine, the revolting South was thence-This at least would be the construction put on the act throughout the slaveholding States. It would be taken as convincing proof that fanat. ells of the Government, and that henceforth ten powerful States-large portions of three or necessary tendency of the act would be to unite 113 from the immediate consequences of the and energetic population-will ever make a policy. As the net result of thu policy, the peacethat shall put the lower course of this sin rebellion would be strengthened and the nation able. The policy, therefore, even if

havn shown to at it is fatally wrong. This, however, is not all. The policy is inhuman as well ne wrong and Inexpedient. We they were constituted a State, gave formal noarmies formed out of the best , arictics of the Washington was l'resideut, that if the United tive war. If terous, than the notion of permanent peace We think we have demonstrated, on a former line was employed to carry troops to the Brit ho is, he is tatell ctually disqualified for the on this contineut, founded on the abnegation a deserves to be dismissed from the Cabinet, and the President would coasult his own repation as well us the public good by promptly loing justice in the promises. As to which of these two cases is true, opinions will probably Iffir. For ourselves, however, we cannot re sist the opinion that Secretary Cameroa, hav ing effectually killed off Fremont by the puhheation of Gen. Thomas's private report, is now resolutely beut on winning at the sacrific I his own convictions the place which Fremont held in the favor of the anti At the supper given to Mr. Prentice by Colonel Forney lest night, Secretary Cameron expressed the opinion that, as a last resort, we ought to sam every man who dedies to strike for human moment, and if Secretary Cameron is not bidmey, the time has unquestionably nrrived when Mr. Cameron should be compelled to retire from the Cabinet. and on the other? What are the interests at stuke, so immenso and so opposite, that justify either party to this war in embarking in it a firs', or iu prosecuting it with the terrible carrestness, everywhere manifest? What is the present aspect of it generally consideredwhat is its prohabln futuro course-what the conclusion that must be reached, at last What arn to be its probable effects directly upon ourselves, indirectly upon the other natious of the earth, and in both ways eration, if the opinion were in itself of only upon the immediate future of the haman race, and possibly upon generations to come? How much of what either party is fighting for, is really attainable, and of tha which is attainable how much is worth what it will cost? These are questions which ever culightened man-every free citizen-is house to ask himself. The Hen. Robert Mallory will eddress the people at Dabney Taylor's school house, io Jefferson county, on Saturday, at 2 o'clock. This will be the last opportunity of hearing our disinguished Congressmon before he returns to Washington to resume his Representative duties. Mr. Grandian Samuel is requested to call diately behind the General, led his men up the at this office.

Charity is a beautiful and perennial flower in woman's heart. Its bud opens to her girlhood and Its full expansion adds fragrance to her maturer years, as incense casts holy oder eround a cathedral. We have beard an incident which illustrates this. Nearly half a century since our country was at war, and the women of Kentucky were then engaged as they now are in the noble work of providing clothing and other necessaries for the volunteers of the State fighting on the northern frontier. One of these patriotic women -a young girl us med MissNannette l'rice-emong other articles, made a shirt which came into the possession of a young soldier, and was worn by him at the Battle of the Raisin and Dudley's defeat. The wearer of the gift survived that dissetrous fight and was reserved to become a prominent statesmen in the councils of the nation, while the donor in the course of time became a matron. Both yet live, are in perfect health, and after the lepse of years are still engaged in deeds of charity and loyalty. The donor of the gift is now Mrs. Nannette Smith the Presidentess of the Woman's Ralief Association for the city of Louisville, and Ita young recipient is now the Ilon. Joseph R. Underwood. Time, which has stolen their years away, has not impaired the charity of the one the day of the 9th, the march being heavy and nor the loyalty of the other; the girl of 1813 is slow on account of the felled trees obstructing the uow again enguged in the holy work of charity, and the hoy volunteer on the Raisin Is now one of the most zealous champion of the Union couse in our State, the Nestor of its Legislature, and the Meutor to guide his fellow-citizens. The night. Capt. Berryhill of the 2d Ohio was woundremance which gathers around these circumed severely at Ivy Creek, while leading the classed as uncertain. In addition, they bay tances is still further enhanced by the fact that Judge Underwood has always preserved the early gift of Mrs. Smith as a prized memento, and it and he has since then been unable to return there.
